DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This action is in response to Applicant's amendment filed June 12, 2006. Claims 1, 2, 6, 9-16, 19 and 22-45 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 27-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 27 and 28 recite "a computer program product that includes a computer readable medium having instructions thereon..." is non-statutory as not being tangibly embodied in a manner so as to be executable. In view of Applicant's disclosure, specification page 24, lines 21-25, the medium is not limited to tangible embodiments, instead being defined as including intangible embodiments (e.g., a radio wave, an infrared wave, a laser wave, sound wave, or an electrical wave). As such, the claims are not limited to statutory subject matter and is therefore non-statutory. To overcome this type of 101 rejections the claims need to be amended to include only the physical computer media and not a transmission media or other intangible or non-functional media.

Art Unit: 2143

(Amended) Claims 29 and 30 are not limited to tangible embodiments. "A computer program product on a computer readable medium having an encoded set of processor based instructions for performing a method of..." is also non-statutory for the same reason as specified in claims 27 and 28 above.

Allowable Subject Matter

The indicated allowability of claims 27 and 28 are withdrawn in view of the newly discovered 101 issued. Rejection is set above.

As previously stated in the Office Action mailed March 9, 2006, claims 1, 2, 6, 10-16, 22-26 and 31-45 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's argument has been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant has amended claim 29 to recite a computer program product on a computer readable medium having an encoded set of processor based instructions. Although the instructions are readable by a responsive device (i.e. computer), as discussed in the rejection above, the instructions are not limited to be embodied in tangible embodiments. Therefore the subject matter is non-statutory and the rejection is sustained.
